5th Annual Masonic Symposium Freemasonry and the Victorian Era

The Victorian Era was an exciting time in Masonic history. This was the time in which new Masonic organizations, such as the Shrine, were founded—as well as some that became controversial in later years, such as the Golden Dawn. The Prince of Wales was Grand Master of the Order in England, while rumors that “Jack the Ripper” was a Mason were rife. An era of romanticism and esotericism, it was also the beginning of the modern era in Freemasonry. A highlight of the program will be a presentation on the famous Rosslyn Chapel by the well-known Masonic historian, Robert Cooper—Curator of the Grand Lodge Museum of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. Be there on August 27, 2005 at Stanford University for an unforgettable experience in Masonic Education!
